BURKHARDT ELECTED MAYOR OF LIMA BY 25 VOTES: BLANK RUNS POOR THIRD

VOTERS REBUKE G.O.P. GANG FOR VICIOUS METHODS USED

School Board Will Be For Present Administration—Calvert Only "Anti" Who Won

Commission Form Government Plan Approved—Republicans Capture Majority Offices

Lima voters yesterday delivered a stinging blow to Bossism and a dirty, mud-slinging campaign, when Frank A. Burkhardt, Democratic candidate, was elected Mayor of the city, running ahead of his ticket.

Former republican precincts, considered strongholds, went for Burkhardt in probably the most sensational and exciting municipal election the city has ever had.

"Coming from behind," Burkhardt made steady gains from the first hour the count began to be made. At first apparently beaten, in the early returns, he gained steadily and consistently all over the city, and emerged with a majority of 25, according to the first complete check made by the board of elections this morning.

The election of Burkhardt came at the end of the most sensational campaign Lima has ever known. Republicans repudiated the gang that has long held the city and the G.O.P. in its power and never has an organization made such a sorry showing.

Starting out to elect Harley and at the same time defeat Rupert, their party's candidate for auditor, and with a city normally strongly republican, the gang saw Harley defeated and Rupert elected, showing that the gang could not direct the vote of its own party.

Seldom has an election light scene been such as it was in Lima Tuesday night. The ten ballots made the count extremely slow, although many precincts hurried in the result of the head of the ticket, first.

Harley started out with a good gain, which he held for a couple of hours. The supposedly republican precincts began to come in showing heavy Burkhardt gains. Burkhardt climbed up, while Harley slowly slid down until, in race horse language, Burkhardt showed his nose in front and kept it there.

Calvert Lands.

Adding to the general surprise of the balloting results, was the election of Fred Calvert, only member of the "noted trio" of anti-Collins candidates to land on the Board of Education. James Jolley, generally conceded to be the most likely of the trio to win, was behind Calvert, another surprise.

Friends of the Collins administration will remain in control of the Board of Education for two more years, and the campaign against Collins will go down in history as the prime mud-slinging effort of the century.

G. O. P. Ticket Lunds.

Handing another slap at the gang, the voters proceeded to put almost every republican, except Harley, into power. Council will be strongly republican, Dave Rupert, against which the gang directed every atom of its organization, led the entire ticket and ran like a scared rabbit, and the gang landed nowhere but on Salt Creek, and even there the tide ran against them.

Burkhardt's Room.

"Of course I feel highly gratified that the voters have vindicated me and elected me Mayor," was about all Mr. Burkhardt would say this morning. "I thank the voters for their kind consideration and particularly am pleased that they knocked in the head all those stories about me."

It was predicted on all hands to day that Burkhardt will make an treaty was voted down today by the exceptional Mayor. He has prom-

CHARTER TO BE WRITTEN FOR THIS CITY

Lima, beginning January 1, 1922, will go under the Commission Manager Form of Government, or speaking more properly, the new charter system.

While three old political parties were fighting it out in the bitterest contest ever known in Lima, the committee of 200 "put it over," apparently, in a vote that may run as high as 2 to 1 for the new government.

The Board of Elections has been swamped with the ten ballots and had not commenced to check the returns on the commission plan this afternoon, but all indications point to the adoption of the system by the voters.

The 15 men named by the Committee of 200 to write a charter have apparently been elected.

Many causes contributed to the voters. The fierce campaign of the two dominant parties, gang rule in Lima, dissatisfaction with the slow progress on public improvements, and many other things entered into it.

PROHIBITION CARRIES IN OHIO BY MAJORITIES OF 50 TO 75 THOUSAND

Taxation Classification Is Defeated According to Unofficial Returns Received Wednesday at Capital.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 5.—Additional returns received up to noon today by Secretary of State Smith served only to substantiate earlier predictions that the drys carried all four prohibition proposals by big majorities at yesterday's election. Chief Statistician Johnson of the secretary's office said the dry majorities would reach 75,000, bearing out the claims made last night by dry leaders.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 5.—L. H. Gibson, manager of the Ohio Home Rule Association at noon today stated that the wets would not concede that the drys had carried all four prohibition proposals in Ohio.

He said that 2.75 per cent beer proposal was very close and that figures received by him indicated that the Crabbe act had been repudiated by the people. Ratification of nation-wide prohibition, Gibson stated, has probably been defeated by the wets, while state-wide prohibition has been carried by the drys by from 50,000 to 75,000 majority.

Returns are continuing to come in to Personal Liberty League headquarters here today, and according to Gibson are showing numerous wet gains.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 5.—State Auditor A. V. Donahue, one of the leading opponents of the classification amendment issued this statement this morning:

"The general assembly of Ohio set the stage and raised the curtain for the approval of the classification taxation amendment, its overwhelming defeat is a notice to this general assembly that the uniform rule of taxation must be made uniform in Ohio."

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 5.—James A. White, head of the Ohio Dry Federation, this morning reiterated his prediction of last night that the

DEMOCRATS WIN IN JERSEY, LOSE MASSACHUSETTS

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 5.—Albert C. Ritchie, democrat, was elected governor over Harry W. Nice, republican, by a plurality of approximately 600 votes, at yesterday's election in Maryland, according to unofficial returns and estimates received up to 1 o'clock this afternoon. It was the closest election ever held in Maryland.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 5.—Edward L. Edwards, democratic candidate for governor of New Jersey, was elected yesterday by a plurality of approximately 12,000. With returns missing early today from only 31 of the 2,011 districts in the state he had 209,311 votes as compared with 197,147 for Newton A. K. Bugbee, his republican opponent.

The victor staked his political future upon the "wets" and won. The republican nominee had the backing of the Anti-Saloon League.

The democrat governor-elect will have a republican legislature against him for that party elected 15 of the 21 senators and 33 of the 60 assemblymen.

CLOSE IN NEW YORK CITY

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Only an official count will determine whether Tammany Hall failed yesterday in its efforts to elect a president of the board of alderman. On the face of virtually complete returns, Representative La Guardia, the republican nominee, defeated Roie L. Moran, democrat, by 1,330 votes.

G. O. P. CARRY MASS

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 5.—Governor Calvin Coolidge, republican, who made support of law and order the sole issue of his campaign, was re-elected yesterday by a plurality of 121,173 over Richard H. Long, democrat. The revised vote of the state complete:

Coolidge 417,817. Long 193,674.

The vote given Governor Coolidge was the largest ever cast for governor in this state, although his plurality has been exceeded. The total vote was unusually heavy.

Voted to uphold action of legislature in ratifying national prohibition amendment.

Voted against permitting sale of beer and wines containing up to 2.75 per cent alcohol.

Voted to make effective the Crabbe prohibition enforcement bill, passed by last legislature.

Drafted constitutional amendment proposing classification of property for taxation by majority of 100,000 or more.

L. H. Gibson, wet campaign manager, concedes dry victories on all prohibition proposals except 2.75 per cent beer.

J. A. White, dry manager, claims dry majorities of from 50,000 to 75,000 on all prohibition proposals.

Drys gain more than 2,000 votes in Cincinnati, lost approximately 9,000 in Cleveland and gained from 8 to 25 votes to the precinct in many rural communities.

Crabbe enforcement law becomes effective as soon as vote certified by Secretary of State.

Socialist majority candidates defeated everywhere. Mayor Davis of Cleveland, and Schreiber of Toledo re-elected. Mayor Karp, democrat of Columbus, defeated by J. J. Thomas, republican.

Most local bond issues carried.

Special session of legislature in December to face taxation issues as a result of defeat of classification.

Between 1917 and 1918 the number of workers in Russian textile factories increased 20 percent, but production fell off 25 per cent.

Drastic Move Studied

If the men do not discontinue following a court decree that it is illegal, it is reported that the government may apply for mandatory order of court directing officials of the miners' union to call off the strike forthwith. Failure to comply with such an order would bring the officials into contempt of court.

Officials tonight would make no comment on this report.

Assistant Attorney General C. R. Ames will leave for Indianapolis Thursday to take charge of the government's side of the injunction case with orders to contend vigorously for permanency of the restraining order.

Notwithstanding the stern attitude of the department of justice, extraordinary pressure is being brought to bear upon the miners' officers and coal operators to get together and settle the issue out of court if possible. Hope had been entertained that this might be brought about before Saturday and it was with this hope in view that President Gompers issued a statement tonight:

DRY ENFORCEMENT APPROVAL SHOWS A PECULIAR SITUATION

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 5.—With the approval yesterday by the voters of the Crabbie state-wide prohibition enforcement bill, which is conceded by wet leaders, the measure will become effective as soon as the official result is certified by the secretary of state. Its failure to receive a two-thirds vote necessary to make it effective upon its passage last spring made it possible for the wet to hold it up from becoming a law until it had been approved by popular vote.

When the measure becomes effective, which will be within a few VOTEDAYS, as soon as official results substantive have been received and tabulated by the secretary of state, Ohio will find itself in a peculiar position. It will who have constitutional prohibition and a law to enforce it, but no machinery to put the law into effect.

Gen. Alvaro Obregon, former right hand man of President Carranza and credited with being the directing military agent who overthrew Villa and made possible a Carranza constitutional government, has announced his candidacy several months ago.

Although remaining at Sonora he has established political headquarters in Mexico City, has launched a daily newspaper in his behalf and is pressing his campaign so vigorously that both chambers of congress now in session have engaged heated debates which were in reality intended as tests of Obregon's power in congress. His followers assert they are satisfied with the results. From Sonora he issues manifestos and appeals to the voters. He lays claim to being the leader of the Liberal party.

Gen. Pablo Gonzales, credited with the capture of Zapata and the pacification of the state of Morelos, is recognized as a candidate, although he has made no formal announcement, complying apparently with President Carranza's request that candidates withhold the launching of campaigns until the end of the present year. Numerous "Gonzales for President" clubs have been organized in the republic and the newspapers always refer to him as an aspirant.

When President Carranza left on his visit to Coahuila he withdrew from the state of Sonora where he was in command of federal forces pacifying that region and made him chief of the forces of the plaza, a position giving him virtual command of all federal forces in the republic. Probably one of the most significant features of the act is that pertaining to the search and seizure. It was to this provision that wet made their chief objection and appealed to the voters to disapprove it. The enforcement officers may enter and search any establishment other than a private dwelling if they believe illegal sales of liquor are being conducted within. To Imagine trying to eat with two sticks held between the thumb and finger. The Chinese do this very nicely, though, and probably would find it very awkward to eat with knives and forks.

It is expected that dry leaders again will appeal to the legislature when it reconvenes in December, to provide a prohibition commissioner and other machinery with which to enforce the Crabbie act.

MEXICAN PARTIES PLAN HOT BATTLE

Ready to Launch Presidential Campaign Before Year Ends.

MEXICO CITY.—The end of the present year probably will see a definite alignment of political parties and presidential candidates in Mexico. The election is scheduled to be held next July. The situation now presents these facts:

Gen. Alvaro Obregon, former right hand man of President Carranza and credited with being the directing military agent who overthrew Villa and made possible a Carranza constitutional government announced his candidacy several months ago.

Although remaining at Sonora he has established political headquarters in Mexico City, has launched a daily newspaper in his behalf and is pressing his campaign so vigorously that both chambers of congress now in session have engaged heated debates which were in reality intended as tests of Obregon's power in congress. His followers assert they are satisfied with the results.

From Sonora he issues manifestos and appeals to the voters. He lays claim to being the leader of the Liberal party.

Gen. Pablo Gonzales, credited with the capture of Zapata and the pacification of the state of Morelos, is recognized as a candidate, although he has made no formal announcement, complying apparently with President Carranza's request that candidates withhold the launching of campaigns until the end of the present year. Numerous "Gonzales for President" clubs have been organized in the republic and the newspapers always refer to him as an aspirant.

his visit to Coahuila he withdrew from the state of Sonora where he was in command of federal forces pacifying that region and made him chief of the forces of the plaza, a position giving him virtual command of all federal forces in the republic.

Political writers saw in the president's action a recognition for Gonzales, indicating Carranza's backing.

Indicating Carranza's backing that was to this provision that wet made their chief objection and appealed to the voters to disapprove it. The enforcement officers may enter and search any establishment other than a private dwelling if they believe illegal sales of liquor are being conducted within. To

WELTY SPEAKS ON C. N. AT DAYTON

Delivers Address Before
Large Gathering of Business Men.

Three hundred members of the Kiowas, Rotary and Exchange clubs of Dayton joined in a luncheon and in hearing a discussion of the reclamation of the Miami and Erie canal joining the Ohio river with the Lake at the Miami hotel, says the Dayton News, at noon Tuesday.

The address was made by Congressman Benjamin F. Welty of Lima, who is leading the fight in Ohio for the establishment of the proposed waterway, or any other which the war department deems advisable. Congressman Welty is representing the western Ohio interests in the proposal to reclaim the Miami and Erie canal, running from Cincinnati to Toledo and passing through Dayton, as the route most feasible.

Mr. Welty said that he expected a report from a survey which is being made before the first of the year. This report will cover the Miami and Erie route, the central route from Portsmouth to Sandusky and the Lake Erie and Ohio route from Pittsburgh to the lakes.

The estimated cost of the route proposed by Mr. Welty would be $100,000,000. The engineering work would give the present canal a depth of 12 feet and a 1000 foot prism.

A survey made in 1896 was made on the basis of a 10-foot depth and an 85 foot prism at a cost of $26,000,000. With a larger canal however, and the increase cost of production over 27 years ago, it is expected that the estimated cost would at least be trebled.

In discussing the project Mr. Welty said:

"Since the filing of the 1896 report the federal government has expended millions upon millions for the canalization of rivers and the building of canals. The Ohio River was then unimproved, but since that time almost $50,000,000 have been expended in the canalization of this stream. The state of New York has expended over one hundred and fifty millions in dredging and widening the old Erie canal. Canada has proposed an enlargement of the Welland canal so as to permit ocean-going vessels to unload at the docks of Chicago and Duluth, and the federal government is expending $6,250,000 for the building of barges to carry the commerce of the lower Mississippi and $3,250,000 for the building of barges to carry the commerce between St. Louis and Minneapolis. This is in addition to the ocean fleet of 20 barges, each of 5000 ton capacity, now on the lower Mississippi. These are acts of men of vision and no man will gainsay that the system of inland water transportation will be completed until these now spending millions for barges on the Mississippi and the Erie canal will be permitted to carry their cargoes between the Mississippi and its tributaries to the state of New York.

Almost simultaneously Gen. Obregon sent a message to Congress asking that he be retired from the army, virtually reducing him to a civilian candidate.

Carlos B. Zetina, senator from the Federal district of Mexico recently launched his candidacy for president as a civilian. Zetina few days before had drawn the fire of many opponents by introducing and advocating a measure which would grant complete amnesty to all persons of good will who have taken up arms against the present government. Spirited debate followed the introduction of the bill which has not gone to a vote.

WHAT CHALLENGED HIS CREDIBILITY

A critic was discussing John Singer Sargent, the artist, with Charles DePew, and remarked:

"They say he painted a cowgirl on nothing once and it was so natural that the maid wore herself out trying to brush it off."

"What you say about the naturalness of the cowgirl may be perfectly true," retorted DePew, "but there was any such maid, I'm sure."

BAD A BETTER ONE

A college professor who was always ready for a joke was asked by a student if he would like a good recipe for catching rabbits.

"Why, yes, replied the professor. "What is it?"

"Well," said the student, "you crouch down behind a thick stone wall and make a noise like a turnip."

"That may be," said the professor, with a twinkle in his eye, "but a better way than that would be for you to go and sit quietly in a nest of cabbage heads and look natural."

STAMPEDE IN NORTH

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 5.—Stories of marvelous gold finds have come from the newly discovered gold fields in the Copper Lake region, 65 miles north of Le Pas, Manitoba, and also at Contact Bay, about 200 miles east of Winnipeg. One man recently came to Le Pas, it is said, with a canoe load of sacks filled with gold. He wanted the gold made into bricks.

ST. MARYS PLANS A BIG ARMISTICE DAY

ST. MARYS, Nov. 5.—Armitice Day, Tuesday November 11, will be observed in the schools. Thus far no definite program has been mapped out. Being the first anniversary of the World War's practical close, there is no precedent in the United States, and who wish to join the post, will be held at the courthouse, Monday night, November 10, at 7:30 o'clock. This will be your opportunity to join as charter members for after November 11, application and election to membership will be made in the regular way.

AGED 65 years, 3 months and 6 days, Isaac Newton Johns, 723 Ohio St., was called to his reward Monday. Death was due to two paralytic strokes.

Mr. Johns first took sick two weeks ago Friday, when a blood vessel bursted in his head. Although he was not bedfast after this time, his mind was in a very feeble state. Not until Sunday last, however, did he take to his bed and his condition was not noted as being any worse, till quietly and quickly, Monday afternoon, a second stroke apparently reached his heart and he passed away to the other world.

Mrs. Johns was alone with him at the time of his death.

At the meeting of the county board held at the county home on Thursday, D. H. Robinson and C. D. Hierholzer were chosen delegates to attend the state conference of charities and corrections to be held at Cincinnati, November 18-20. Alternates chosen were Mrs. R. E. Riley and Mrs. C. A. McNam.

The first meeting of the Mercer County Teachers' association will be held in the Celina High School auditorium, Saturday, November 15, 1919.

Enroute on an automobile trip from New York City to San Diego Cal., Lieut. and Mrs. Joe L. Koehl, Marie, Texier and Louise Gugie, were Saturday and Sunday guests of Mrs. Mary A. Koehl, South Chestnut street.

Lieut. Koehl served in France and after returning to the States early in the spring was held at Camp Merritt for clerical duty.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 5.—Probably the most startling result of yesterday's mayoralty election in Ohio was the defeat of George J. Kuhn, Columbus' democrat mayor who was running for a sixth term. James J.

Thomas, republican, who has been city clerk for several years, defeated Kuhn by over 3,000. Fred C. Zimpfer, socialist, ran third, about 5,000 behind Kuhn.

Mayor Harry L. Davis, republican of Cleveland, was re-elected for a third term by a clear majority. He had three rivals. Cornel Schreiber, democrat, by a small majority. In Canton, Herman R. Witter, democrat, defeated Henry A. Schrantz, republican, by a small majority. Schrantz, who recently appointed acting mayor to succeed Charles E. Poorman, who was removed from office by Governor Cox for alleged failure to quell riots during the steel strike.

The mayoralty election in Youngstown was still in doubt early today. Mayor A. W. Craver, democrat, was leading by less than two votes with still a number of precincts to be heard from.

Lancaster elected C. E. Ruhle, a republican. This is said to be the first time in the city's history that a republican had been elected mayor.

Some form of graduated automobile tax will greatly increase the revenue from licensing motor vehicles also probably will be recommended. To form such a taxation law under the present system of taxation proved to be a difficult task last winter when the legislature was in session. Present constitutional provisions make it almost impossible to enact such a measure, the committee's experts declared then.

Had the classification amendment been adopted, it is said that such a law could have been worked out without any difficulty.

It is expected that the joint legislative taxation committee will be begin at once the task of drafting new taxation laws in order that they will be ready for consideration by the legislature as soon as it reconvenes.

The legislature, it is said, may also consider the advisability of enacting laws to limit debts which municipalities and other taxing districts may incur through the issuance of bonds or otherwise.

MISTAKEN DIAGNOSIS

"Mamma," said small Stanley, "I'm awfully sorry I took the preserves out of the jar when you wasn't looking."

"So your conscience is troubling you, is it?"

"I guess so," replied Stanley. "But I thought all the time it was my stomach," Charleston News.

An Age of Impatience

If there is any dominating characteristic of this age, it is impatience. The average person simply cannot wait for a sensible solution to problems, nor spare the time to arbitrate. Whatever has to be done, has to be speedily done. Sometimes affairs thus cared for have to be undone, with corresponding loss of time, money and opportunity. But folks in a general way never take this fact into consideration.

We are riding high in America these days. Our chariot rolls along over gilded highways. There is poverty and distress and unrest here and there, but still we drive on, unconscious of our national crime of impatience in serious affairs.

Facts do not permit debate, but they do challenge thought on the part of seriously-minded people. And that is the very reason why some things are taking place in the United States today that deserve a great deal more consideration, and prayer, and solicitude than a majority of our citizens are giving to them.

The whole cause of unrest in America today is due to impatience. We have won a war, or at least we were told we won it. The period of reconstruction came upon us almost over night. We weren't prepared, possibly, to enjoy peace again. Our hands had been clenched in warlike enthusiasm to be at our enemies. We ate war, slept war, dreamed war, worked war, bought war until we were thoroughly saturated with the thought that nothing was worth while but strife.

And, entering upon this period of reconstruction we find ourselves suddenly in the midst of peaceful occupations again. But our hands still are clenched and our hearts are bruised and our minds are inflamed and before we have to sit down to the national council table and talk over things like a father would talk over family affairs with his loved ones, we rush out of doors and forthwith decided that everything that is needed in the United States will have to come about at once—else we proposed personally to see to it that our ideas are put into effect immediately.

The result has been more or less turmoil and confusion. Man has become embittered against his neighbors. We have left the front door open and while we were away Bolshevism and Anarchy and J. W. W. W. have come in and ransacked the house, so to speak.

Let's go back home and drive out these invaders. If we want to make war, for the sake of decency let's fight the common foe of humanity—impatience.

The Dogs of Holland

A RETURNED tourist says that the thing which most impressed him during his trip through Europe was the dogs of Holland—the manner in which they are worked to carts and the pleasure which the dogs seemed to find in working. The pictures of dogs drawing heavy burdens are familiar to those who have ever taken a photographic journey through the Netherlands, but this is the first instance where any one has expressed the idea that the dogs are the happiest in the world while engaged at their tasks.

The gentleman says that upon one occasion he saw a great dog jumping about anxiously as his master started off drawing a cart himself—for all the world as a hunting dog prances around when the master is going hunting. Then the master hitched the hog to the cart—knowing that that was what the creature desired—and away it went, wagging its tail in glee to think that the master was so considerate of it as to let it draw the burden. It is not the case with other work animals. The horse shows no inclination to be hitched to the plow, and the ox shows clearly that he prefers not to bear the yoke. But with the dogs of the Netherlands, the gentleman says, it is different.

But it isn't peculiar to the Netherlands, however. It is the same in the Eskimo's dog. It is almost impossible to drive a dog team in Alaska with a dog or two not in the team and trotting along with the others. The unhitched dog makes it troublesome for the others until he himself is placed in the harness, no matter how many dogs an Eskimo has when he starts out, he must hitch them all to the sled to keep peace in the family.

The Matter of Contentment

INSTEAD of laying so much stress upon the amount of money one can make in certain pursuits, it would be a thousand times better to teach contentment. For the success of the world is not founded upon money, but upon the satisfaction one gets from his employment, regardless of what store the thoughtless place upon wealth.

An old newspaper man recently expressed it in these words: "I would not be satisfied to do any other kind of work. There is undoubtedly more money in other lines, but I feel quite contented to stick here." Dare any one say that a man so contented is not more successful, earning a mere living, than many others who have acquired great riches?

It is necessary that one earn a living—and in these days the cost of a respectable living has greatly increased. But there has never been a period in the world's history when money was less respected for its own sake; never a time when a man who has nothing else but money was less respected if you please. The luxuries and comforts of life are to be coveted; every one should strive to obtain them. But this thing of devoting one's life to making money in an uncongenial vocation is cogent to be recognized as the greatest folly.

GOOD EVENING—It is Cupid's job to see that a man and his wife are won.

The editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer fears that prohibition will extend to chewing gum, and we suspect, if he were honest with himself, there are times when he tries to clean a discarded wad off his shoe sole, that he wishes the movement would succeed.

This certainly is a persistent world. We notice that in spite of the fact that some doctor has announced the discovery of the elixir, whatever that is, of life, the undertakers are still letting their signs hang out.

We see by the newspapers that they have found a 32-foot fossilized giant down in Mexico, and we believe that if the old cuss should kidnap us we'd have our folks send on the ransom, if any.

The man who has to listen most of the time agrees with the theory that married life is a game of give and take—his wife giving the conversation and he taking it.

They say that people of olden times did without sugar entirely, but none of 'em ever lived to demonstrate the advantages of such a course.

HAPPY THOUGHT: Next election is a year off.

WHAT YOU SHOULD DO WHEN YOU HAVE "A SORE MOUTH"

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (John Hopkins University)

The mouth may be moulded by millefious speech and tremulous full of the glowing softness borrowed from the heart and electrically obedient to its impulse, but it is also susceptible to blisters, ulcers and sores, if not properly cared for.

If you are too fond of sweets or viands highly seasoned; if you have large tenns or defective teeth, then beware of a sore mouth or throat.

The trouble may first appear as only a bit of redness or congestion; a scratchy, gritty feeling, or a swollen tongue, gums or palate.

There may be ulcers on the tip of the tongue or indentations from the teeth; perhaps the saliva overflows or there are blisters and pimples.

Your breath may be, to your taste metallic or garlicky. Invariably they are white spots or open, torn ulcerations which may be present.

Children may exhibit a white tongue coated with thrush. These infections in the children often can be prevented by means of boric acid used as a cleansing agent. Compound tincture of benzoin, a tea-spoonful to the cup, is a good mouth wash and gargle for adults.

Ulcers should be touched with nitrate of silver or carbulated glycerine. A diet of simple papulm without pepper, spice, mustard, catsup or other condiments will help to rid you of sore mouth.

Charcoal and bicarbonate of soda, calcined magnesia or mith of magnesia are also useful for such sores.

Care of Teeth

The teeth ought to be washed and polished after each meal with some pasty, gritty mixture of chloroform of potash, borac acid, chalk and bicarbonate of soda.

If the palate, throat, tongue and the gums are each of partly affected the alkaline antiseptic liquid used as a mouth wash or gargle will usually diminish the inflammation. Ulcers are more difficult to cure. On the tip of the tongue or the edge of the gums they are an abomination.

Commonly, there is some source of mischief in the food of the diet. Strange as it appears, non-smokers and infants are more often in distress from ulcers of the mouth than are smokers.

It may be necessary to make frequent visits to your family doctor for sore mouths. Lanar, caustic carbolic acid, iodine and argyrol are among the various medicaments and galenicals employed to remedy the trouble.

An unclean mouth makes an ideal home for small organisms known as endemal bacillus, which many believe are the cause of pyorrhoea dentalis or Rigg's disease. In this disease there is inflammation of the gums, which become soft, swollen, and bleed easily. The disease extends around the roots of the teeth, and pus exudes from their sockets. The teeth are loosened and ultimately fall out. The process may take a number of years, but more than half of the permanent teeth are lost in this way.

An unclean condition of the mouth renders the person more liable to catch cold, to attacks of influenza, bronchitis, and pneumonia. Headaches and neuralgic pains are often due to bad teeth. Many cases of so-called rheumatism resulting from the absorption of poison from the mouth are remedied. The same poisons often lead to sore throat, inflammation of the tonsils, disease of the eye and ear and disordered digestion.

Consult Your Dentist

The teeth should be cleaned with a toothbrush at least twice a day, and care should be taken that all particles of food are removed. Wooden and metal toothpicks should not be used, as the gums are liable to be injured, which may be followed by inflammation and absorption of septic products. Quill toothpicks are less objectionable, but should be employed with care.

When cleansing the teeth a small quantity of tooth powder should be placed upon the brush. The formula of one of the best tooth powders is as follows:

Magnesium peroxide 60 parts
Sodium perborate 30 parts Powdered castile soap and flavoring 10 parts

When a tooth powder is not available castile-soap can be used for cleansing the teeth.

Every person should visit a dentist at least twice a year to have his teeth examined and any necessary repair work performed. A dentist should also be consulted whenever there is toothache or a gum boil. It is impossible to obtain the services of one, temporary relief from toothache can be obtained by cleaning out the cavity and putting in two or three drops of oil of cloves on a small piece of cotton. For toothache without the presence of a decayed tooth to cause it the application of heat to the seat of the pain will often give relief.

A gumboil should be opened by a dentist inserting a sharp-pointed knife along the sides of the tooth down to the abscess cavity and cutting forward and outward. Before doing this operation the mouth should be rinsed out with a solution containing one part of hydrogen peroxide and three parts of water or some other antiseptic wash.

The knife should be boiled before it is used, and the hands of the operator should be carefully cleansed with soap and water before performing the operation.

The treatment for Rigg's disease requires that the tartar and yellowish matter which has accumulated along the edges of the teeth and between the teeth be removed by a dentist, who should be consulted as to further treatment.

Finally, the rations you put into your stomach have much to do with the state of your mouth. Similarly, if your lips and teeth are not allowed to kiss and touch the mouths of others there is less likelihood of "catching" sores.

Answers to Health Questions.

H. J. R. Q.—What can I do for gas on the stomach?

A—Try either of the following in little water every four hours:

Salol ..... 2 1/2 grains

Bicarbonate of soda 10 grains

Bismuth subnitrate 5 grains

C. H. Q.—What are the symptoms of appendicitis?

A—An increased number of white corpuscles in the blood, a blood examination is necessary for this, rigidity of the muscles of the abdomen, nausea, vomiting and constipation. These are present in some kinds of appendicitis, while other kinds of appendicitis have different symptoms, but all of the symptoms that are present in appendicitis may also occur in other diseases, so that mere description of symptoms are not enough for the inexperienced, non-medical person to discover what is wrong. Many kinds of appendicitis disappear without an operation, while an operation is the only thing that will cure certain kinds of appendicitis.

X. Y. Z. Q.—What can I do to reduce my weight?

A—You must not get more than eight hours sleep out of the 24. You must keep the intestines open and active, and get daily outdoor exercise. You should reduce the amount of sugars, starches and oils which are taken into the body. Food laxatives such as uncooked bran and green vegetables help in the reduction process. Drink lots of water only between times. Do not eat any bread, except gluten, and it is better to have this toasted.

Short Stories of the Buckeye State

OHIO IN STATURELL HALL

On July 2, 1864, congress set apart the old hall of the house of representatives in the Capitol to be used as a chamber in which to place statues of the great men of the history of the nation, and invited the states to present each a marble or bronze statue of not more than two of their most famous deceased citizens. No state responded until 1872

when New Jersey supplied her quota. Vermont followed with one the next year—that of Ethan Allen. In 1877 Maine placed a statue of William King, and South Carolina the same year so honored John C. Calhoun.

Ohio took no action in the matter for more than twelve years after the hall was established. The tragic death of President Garfield moved the authorities of the state to act and a statue of the deceased president was placed there. The Democrats felt that they were entitled to a representative of their party and they selected former Governor and Senator William Allen in 1887.

Allen had been dead eight years. The general assembly of the state made both selections.

The legislatures make all the selections and naturally politics often decides. As might be expected men whose names mean nothing to the average person are often thus placed with the truly great of the country.

Most people would be sent to their encyclopedias for information concerning the latest contribution—

Uriah M. Rose or Arkansas, in 1917 and of William King, Maine's presentation in 1877. They stand in the hall with Washington, Charles Carroll, Daniel Webster, Samuel Adams,

Jonathan Trumbull, and such noted characters. Up to date 29 of the 48 states have responded to the invitation thus to honor their noted men, but of these only 18 have so far presented two statues.

Only one woman has been so honored. Soon after her death, Illinois

AMERICAN SCENES POPULAR IN BRAZIL PICTURE THEATRES

RIO GRANDE DO SUL, Brazil.—An American visiting small towns in Brazil can easily gratify his desire for home scenery. Whatever the place, large or small, he is sure to find on the main street at least one moving picture theatre and never fails to see there an American production, in fact, seldom anything else.

The Associated Press correspondent had occasion to make a trip on a Brazilian coastwise steamer which made stops at the ports of Paranagua, San Francisco do Sul, Florianopolis, and Rio Grande, the latter being the largest with about 14,000 inhabitants. In these typical towns, as in the smaller communities of the United States, the moving picture seems to be the chief source of evening entertainment.

Adorning the foyers of the theatres are always to be seen posters and photographs of well-known American moving picture stars, sent from the United States with the film and with the captions still in English. These are usually supplemented, however, by a brilliant poster done in hand by a local artist, with Portuguese text, emphasizing the thrilling features of the production.

The North American visitor may discover that he has seen the film at home two or three years ago, but even so, he will find something new in the manner in which a film is presented in Brazil. Here instead of a continuous picture, the film is cut at critical junctures of the plot and there follows a flash on the screen of—"dosuminhos de intervalo."

The lights go up and thus for an interval of two minutes the audience is held in suspense wondering what will happen next.

Always the theatres are filled to capacity and the Brazilians discuss the merits of American actors and actresses of the screen as familiarly as any moving picture enthusiast in the United States. The comedians are intensely popular and there is one, distinguished for being extraordinarily fat, to whom the Brazilians have given the name of "Chico-Boia," meaning "Little Bull."

The advent of a film showing "Chico-Boia" combined with that of a Spanish ventriloquist was made the occasion of a gala night at the moving picture theatre in the little town of Parana.

PARIS WAITERS TO PROTEST ORDER TO REMOVE MUSTACHES

PARIS.—Waiters in seven or eight of the largest cafes on the Paris boulevards have been stirred to angry protest by orders to shave their mustaches or quit.

One of the bitterest grievances the waiters had when they went on strike last April was the edict of the employers to the effect that waiters must sacrifice their mustaches. The waiters triumphed and the employers agreed they should be permitted to adorn their visages as they pleased. Now an attempt to revive the ban on mustaches has roused their indignation.

The waiters are sufficiently humiliated to have to earn their living by extending their hands to receive what often proves to be a ridiculous tip, without being forced to forego one of the privileges of manhood," said the Secretary of the Union. "Really the ferocious employers know little about psychology. Should they maintain this iniquitous measure destined solely to give their staff a servile appearance toward the customer, they are picking out a poor time for it. Whether through snobbishness or in the hope of appearing original, customers chose to make their faces as glabrous and depilated as that of the Americans or aim to copy the two commas on the upper lip of a well-known moving picture actor; that is their business. We must insist that the conventions entered into at the time of the strike be respected, that the mustache has always been in vogue in France and to suppress it is an indignity and diminishes the morale, value and patriotism of the personnel of the cafes."

RECRUIT STATION INSPECTED Colonel O. R. Cole, of Toledo, commandant of the army recruiting station in that city visited the local recruiting office on a tour of inspection, Tuesday. He highly commended Sergeant Long for the manner in which the work is progressing in Lima, as for the month of October the enlistment record for Lima was broken. It is hoped to break this record for the month of November.

GERMANY STILL HOPES FOR U. S. AID

Optimism of People in Sharp Contrast With Financiers Pessimism.

BERLIN.—Pessimism of many financial writers about the industrial future of Germany is in sharp contrast to the general optimism of the people, who stubbornly cling to the hope that America will sooner or later grant huge credits, and who overlook the fact that American capital is still shy of German loans.

One of the most important German industries is the textile industry, and those interested in securing raw materials at the earliest possible moment, or the credit with which to buy them, are gradually more and more alarmed at the colossal smuggling through the occupied territory, for it indicates to them that England, France and, to lesser extent, America, want to swamp Germany with manufactured goods and will withhold raw materials as long as possible.

Germany had succeeded in the summer of 1918, in mitigating the dislike for clothes made of paper, but hardly was this dislike gone than the armistice came, and the well-paid workmen and others preferred to pay the enormous prices for foreign textiles, enormous partly because they came from countries where prices are higher than in Germany, and partly because of the low exchange value of the German mark.

It was this influx of textiles primarily that induced Finance Minister Erzberger to make customs duties in gold obligatory, for he believed that that would in some measure be a drawback to would-be importers.

Financial experts, however, doubt whether this measure will be sufficient to prevent a ruinous flood of textiles, already manufactured, before Germany can secure its necessary credits.

"Uncle Tom
WITHOUT The Cabin"

NOT A MATTER OF VISION
The old man was applying at the eye hospital for some spectacles and the doctor was making a test of his eyes.

A card was fixed on the wall a little distance away from where the old man was sitting, and the doctor asked him:

"Can you read that, my man?"
"No, sir," said the old man, "I can't."

The doctor told him to go nearer. "Well, can you read it now?" Again the old man replied: "No, sir."

The doctor angrily pulled him forward till his nose almost touched the placard.

"Well, can you read it now?"
"No, sir," said the old man sadly, shaking his head. "You see, sir, I never learnt to read."—London Answer.

her first photoplay after "Destry." "Paid in Advance," the newest offering, is a play fraught with immense dramatic possibilities, which are amply disposed of by a notable cast of players supporting Miss Phillips' splendid work.

The play itself is the picturization of one of the popular stories of the Canadian Northwest and the Klondike, which have made James Oliver Curwood one of the most widely read writers in this country. Mr. Curwood knows Canada and, he knows the Klondike. For many years he has spent a part of his time in the wild regions in the fur trading districts in Canada and he is equally familiar with the life in the Yukon region. One period of the play transpires during the gold rush days of 1897, when men laid down ledger, pen, trowel and saw, and joined other adventurous spirits who were lured to the bleak snow laden regions to search for gold.

Miss Phillips' handling of the role of Joan Gray, daughter of a Canadian fur trapper, enticed to the Yukon by the owner of a dive, is convincing and wholesome. As Joan Gray, Miss Phillips has a part that makes much demand on her well known ability for emotionalism, but to say that nothing in her execution of the part is overdrawn would be a redundancy. She is herself throughout the play, injecting into the character all the personality that is hers.

A strong supporting cast was put at the disposal of Allen J. Holubar, who directed the production, among them being several players who are stars in their own right. Precilla Dean, herself one of Universal's most popular favorites, is cast as a half-breed Canadian girl—a veritable trouble maker.

AT THE ORPHEUM
In a free-for-all contest, immediately following the first show at the Orpheum Friday night, Al Lemon, champion hard shoe endurance dancer of the world featured comedian with the "Tip Top Merry Makers," the miniature musical comedy company featured all week at that theater, will defend his title against all challengers. Cash prizes will be awarded the winners by the management of the Orpheum. Members of the audience at the first show will be the guests of the theater, without extra charge, at the dancing contest. The winners will be decided by the amount of applause from the audience.

Al Lemon won his title of champion hard shoe endurance dancer of the world at Madison Square Garden, New York City, in competition with many of the world's foremost stars. Since that time, in every city in which he has appeared, Lemon has defended his title against all comers.

There are no confusing rules or regulations about the contest at the Orpheum Friday night. All that is necessary is for the contestants to leave their names and addresses at the box office of the theater between now and the hour scheduled for the event.

FAUROT—"OH, MY DEAR!"
Apparently F. Ray Comstock and William Elliott, producers of the famous New York Princess Theatre musical comedy successes, believe that not only is the best none too good for their audiences, but also that satisfied patrons are the best advertisements, for they never spare either time, money, or talent in their productions, as their sixth New York Princess production, "Oh, My Dear," which comes to the Faurot Friday night shows.

This charming, intimate musical comedy, which proved the big hit of the season on Broadway, with its graceful, swinging melodies, and exquisite humor, has really taken more than its share of the time, money and talent of the producers, for the finished product represents over a year of labor, thousands of dollars, and the best musical comedy stars of the stage.

It is, however, worthy of their efforts, for never have Guy Bolton and P. G. Wodehouse written more pleasing lyrics, or a more lively book, and never has Louis A. Hirsch produced more delightful tunes. And in staging, the piece Robert Milton and Edward Royce have set a new standard for stage direction.

AT THE ORPHEUM
Yank—a dog—puzzle of the ages and greatest canine actor on earth—ends his engagement with his master, Art Browning, as the headliner extraordinary of the big-time vaudeville bill for the first half of this week at the Orpheum theatre at the matinee this afternoon and the two shows tonight. Yank is a dog that reads with unerring accuracy the human mind. He has a brain that in its mental development appears almost unbelievable, but which, nevertheless, is a fact, even if it is rather startling. Yank has set all Lima talking since he first appeared at the Orpheum last Monday afternoon.

Also, for the last time today, the extravaganza of pure joy "The Honeymoon Cruise," presented by Orth and Coleman's "Tip Top Merry Makers," will be presented for the last time. At the matinee tomorrow this entrancing miniature musical comedy company will present an entirely different farce. The chorus of the Merry Makers is declared to be composed of perfect little beauties, perfectly drilled. Featured in the cast are Al Coleman, the comedian; Al Lemon, world's champion hard sole shoe dancer; lovely Jewell Shaw, one of the daintiest soubrettes ever to come to Lima.

On the vaudeville bill concluding his engagement tonight also are Watson and Stalva, the irresistible mirth; Wood and Lawson, in a novelty of song, dance and dialogue; Luck Valmont and Co., in a delightful novelty. Every act on the bill has scored a complete success upon every presentation.

An all-new vaudeville and musical comedy program will be presented for the last half of the week, beginning at the matinee Thursday afternoon.

FAUROT—ELsie FERGUSON
That distinctive quality known as caste dominates every situation and detail of production of "A Society Exile," the six-part Artcraft picture made from Henry Arthur Jones' stage play, "We Can't Be as Bad as All That," in which Elsie Ferguson is the star. The scenes are laid principally in Venice and in England, and the characters are mainly of excellent social position. The atmosphere of good breeding and correct surroundings which the director has given the picture is one of its chief merits, and the admirable acting of the entire cast brings out every point in the story. "A Society Exile" is more romantic than realistic, but is consistent to the class in which it belongs, and the plot has sufficient red blood running through its veins to awaken real interest in the men and women whose lives it depicts.

The scenes in Venice along the canals are particularly effective, with the gondolas gliding past the stone houses or pausing to land a passenger at his own door. The English country scenes are also impressive reproductions of the real thing, and a London fog is shown that would make any subject of King George feel perfectly at home. "A Society Exile" was written before the big war had touched English society and men and women of the highest social grade had not gone through the baptism of fire which was to try their souls. As an example of the story of dramatic fare which one of England's foremost playwrights thought suitable to his public it is also interesting. Ounda Bergere in adapting the play to the screen has brought the period up to the present and taken full advantage of the greater latitude of the silent stage to follow the movements of its characters.

Elsie Ferguson plays the part of Nora Shard, an American heiress whom fate treats with great harshness. The varied emotions under which she labors during the unfolding of the story are finely indicated by her and she is enabled to wear a number of gowns that set off her beauty at its best. William P. Carlton as Sir Ralph Newell is natural and likable and looks the part to the life. Warburton Gamble as Lord Bissett, Julia Dean as Lady Doris Furnival, Henry Stephenson as Sir Howard Furnival, Zeffie Tilbury as Mrs. Stanley Shelby, Bijou Fernandez as Lady Carnforth and Alexander Kyle as Lord Carnforth are the other members of the cleverly selected cast.

The program also includes the

Pathé News and Mack Sennett's crucial funny comedy, "Uncle Tom Without the Cabin," probably the funniest farce this prolific producer has ever made for the Paramount program.

JET WEDDING

At 6:30 o'clock, Tuesday morning, Mrs. Lillian Maurer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Maurer, of North Main street, was united in marriage to Paul J. Brennan, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Brennan, of North West street. The ceremony was performed at the St. Gerard's church by Reverend Father Behr. Miss Elizabeth Brennan, sister of the bridegroom and Vincent McGraw, attended the young couple. At the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony a delectable wedding breakfast was served only a few intimate friends of the bride and bridegroom, besides the immediate families. A pink and white color scheme made the table setting pretty and attractive.

The bride wore a handsome tailored suit of blue peach bloom with who-limms of fur. She wore a corsage of pink rosebuds. Following a short wedding trip, they will make their home in Lima.

Wednesday morning at the residence of the Reverend A. A. O'Day, Miss Dora Naylor, became the bride of Carl Butterfield, of West North street, at eight forty-five o'clock.

They were attended by Miss Hazel Naylor and Miss Ada Cordis Naylor, sisters of the bride.

The bridegroom has been connected with the Lima Telephone and Telegraph Company, and has a responsible position.

Following a brief wedding trip, they will be at home to their many friends at 994 West North street.

The many friends of Miss Ella Mae Longmeier, youngest daughter of Mrs. John Longmeier, North Main street, will be greatly surprised to learn of her marriage which was a quiet event of last week in Cleveland, Ohio. Miss Longmeier, who for the past several weeks has been the guest of her sister Mrs. F. J. Swartz, Cleveland, became the bride of J. Willard Hall, of Readstown, Wisconsin.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hall left for an extended eastern trip, and on their return will visit at the bride's home before proceeding to Readstown, where the groom has extensive business interests.

LXXII-A GENTLE REPRIMAND

LNXIV.—O MY KINDLY CRITIC

Mrs. Carlton would have smiled reprovingly and the rest of my set would have started in amazement if they had seen me as I motored downtown to keep my luncheon engagement with John Manning.

In a spirit of mischief, I donned a black gown miscolored by color, I wore a drabbing black hat that would have given the most hardened of my sex a wistful, helpless air. To carry out the ensemble, I wore no rouge and affected an interesting pattern with a hint of unpleasant sophistication. I used to wear one after the other gain ascendancy as your mood veered and wondered which would be the real "you" when you had grown up enough to have a clearly crystallized character."

"What do you mean?" I asked curiously.

"Well, when I first met you, there were two of your dual personalities struggling for expression. One was very adorable and the other was a mischievous imp with a hint of unpleasant sophistication. I used to wear one after the other gain ascendancy as your mood veered and wondered which would be the real "you" when you had grown up enough to have a clearly crystallized character."

"I'm afraid you've deliberately cultivated the worldly twin," he answered with a smile.

"Charming!" he still smiled, but there was more than a hint of seriousness underneath. "Personally, I should hate to see her represent you, for there is a hardness, a sophistication about her that does not really belong to you. She is the product of your intensive cultivation. You think it smart or modern, or individual to do and say certain things. You like so many other women, make the mistake of thinking that you are only assuming a pose to be disregarded at will, when some new whim arises. But, Nell, you don't realize how insidious this belief is. Some day you will want to go back to the sweet little girl that I knew a number of years ago—and she won't be there."

"That was a long lecture, and you're stifling your yawns nobly," he added lightly. "You have my permission to dismiss it instantly from your mind, as you would have done any way. Shall we do a matinee this afternoon?"

"Let's drive in the park," I suggested. "I have a difficult favor to ask of you."

"I had decided to make a clean breast of my quandary over the pearl butterfly."

BETTY FAIRFAX'S READY ADVICE

Chats With the Love-Lorn
Answers to Missives

Dear Miss Fairfax: I have been going with a man for more than a year, at first going with him because I felt sorry for him. Now he thinks a good deal of me and would like to continue our romance. However, I do not think enough of him to continue his friendship; do you think I should keep on seeing him just because he thinks so much of me? I have been trying to decide this question and want to know what you think about it.

Ans.—If you think you are unduly encouraging the young man to feel that you care for him, by continuing to see him, then it would be best to end the friendship. But it is not necessary to be in love with a man to enjoy his company. It is lots of fun to be a real good friend to a man in whom you have no romantic interest. Don't think that I am advising you to go around with a man, just for the sake of the places he can take you, for personally there is nothing more boring to me than the thought of going with a person whom I dislike, just because he is a man.

SHE MARRIED AN AVERAGE MAN

BY ZOE BECKLEY

Today that woman guest at the Wyeth's called on me with her odious son. The boy is only eighteen, yet has the air of a man of thirty-five, experienced—and bored. He takes it for granted that I want him to make love to me. His mother seems amused at my efforts to avoid him.

"Don't take dear Gerald seriously," she drawled as I came back from a trip to the kitchen for tea and cookies, the foolish youth at my heels. "He's due to have several more attacks of puppy love before he really grows up."

Gerald protested. He strode to the window and gazed out at the snow flurry with a nobody-understands-me air, quite unintentionally comic.

They are strange types to me. But they come from New York, which I long to know more of. It is odd that while I have been to Canada and sailed from there to England, where I sent those happy weeks six years ago, New York is a sealed book to me—a city of dreams.

"Tell me about New York," urged Mrs. Hast as we sipped our tea.

"Well, the main difference between New York and Centerville my dear, is that while New York adapts itself to you, while I, in Centerville, that is, if you've got brains or personality, I like you, my dear, or I wouldn't be so frank."

"Most of the women in Centerville are mere reflections of their husbands. They value themselves only as their lords and masters value them. They're like horses: they don't realize how powerful and necessary an aid they are to mankind. If they did they'd never be so submissive. They'd kick over the traces and bust things when there was too much whip laid on."

"But isn't New York very—very frivolous and artificial in New York?" I hazarded.

"Tommyrot!" exploded Mrs. Hast. "New York's as man-sized as a diamond. There's my side, which is clubs and musical and suffrage and charities and opera.

"There's Gerald's side, an imitation of Bohemia which he thinks is real—purple studios on Washington Square, very libre, cubist paintings and absinthe cocktails.

"There's my niece's side—working in a law office all day and studying at night. But she's piling up a bank balance, all right, and some day she'll be a famous lawyer.

"Then there's my daughter's side. Oh, yes, I've a married daughter, who manages to keep a sweet little flat on Morningside Heights with a husband and a couple of healthy babies, and earn money on the outside writing about 'em."

She told me a lot more too. So much that I could think of nothing but New York after she left.

Then Jim came home and I told him about the Hasts' callings and all Mrs. Hast had said about New York.

He let me talk and talk and gash and gash, and when I looked to see why he said nothing in reply he was smiling at me in the most whimsical way.

"Good you're getting points," he said, catching me around the waist and lifting me high in his arms as he would a three-year-old child, because we may be going there. He watched my face to see how I take it.

I longed to shriek with joy. But I felt Charles Belton was mixed up with the plan somehow.

ERCKMANN-CHATRIAN

Erckmann-Chatrian is the joint name of two French writers whose collaboration made their work that of, so to speak, one personality; the former writing chiefly and the latter editing and adapting for the stage. Emile Erckmann was born on the 20th of May, 1822, at Phalsbourg; and Louis Gratiot Alexandre Chatrian, on the 19th of December, 1826, at Sodenthal, Lorraine. They began their work together in 1847 and continued doing so until 1855.

Among their first publications are "Science et Genie," "Schindernhannes" and many short stories. The series of novels to which Erckmann-Chatrian owe in great part their reputation includes "Le Fou Yegor," "Madame Therese," "Histoire d'un Conscript de 1812," "L'Ami Fritz," "Histoire de Homme des Peuples," and many others.

Their dramatic compositions and adaptations are "Georges le Chas-

"WATERLOO"

By MM. ERCKMANN-CHATRIAN
(Condensation by Charles E. L. Wingate)

There was a joy unbounded when Louis the Eighteenth returned in 1814.

Yes, everybody was delighted, except the old soldiers and the fencing masters.

Living with Father Goulen in Phalsbourg, of old Lorraine, I was happy in the belief that conscription was now over, and that, at last, I should be able to marry Catherine and live in peace.

So, when the marriage permit came, I rushed at once to her with the news. I kissed her again and again and we both wept for joy.

And then, after the happiness of marrying Catherine, my greatest delight lay in thinking that I should be a tradesman for the rest of my life.

All, what a happy life! what satisfaction to be young and to have a simple, good, industrious wife! We shall never be old! We shall always love one another and always retain about us those whom we love.

These days and weeks went by. But, later on, we found that the returning royalists, the ministers and the princes, adopted the rushed back to France after Napoleon's banishment, adopted the most insolent manner towards us, the people. And as to their treatment of Napoleon's former soldiers I can still hear the commandant expostulating. "They are starving us; they are treating us like Cossacks; only they are too cowardly to shoot us!"

But about the beginning of March a rumor began to circulate that the Emperor had escaped from Elba and had landed in France. Quickly his advance toward Paris followed and the old soldiers, sent out to restrain him, rushed forward to kneel at his feet. Thus it was that Napoleon again came to the throne.

What happened afterwards, however, was not so agreeable to me, now a married man, settled as I had hoped for a life of peace. For I was called to the colors. Aunt Grethel, who had always been like a mother to me, sobbed aloud. Catherine passed into a deathly swoon.

Yet, in spite of all, I needs must leave for the army with my old veteran soldier friend, Zehede, and at once we were rushed to the front.

One day, as we waited, the Emperor came to our lines and the whole division shouted "Vive l'Emperur!"

I had a good view of him as he advanced with his arms crossed behind his back and his head bent. He had grown stouter and more sallow since the days of Leipzig. He looked much older and his cheeks were flabby. Little wonder, also, that he appeared worried—for had he not lost everybody's confidence? The old soldiers alone retained their love for him; they were ready to conquer or to die in his behalf. But for my part I cared much more for Catherine than for the Emperor. Of her I thought with greatest tend-the trumpets sounded.

The first movement was when our four divisions were ordered to advance. We were about twenty thousand men, marching in two lines and sinking up to our knees with every step in the soft mud. Nobody spoke a word.

Face to face with us were the English, in perfect order, their cannoneers with lighted matches in their hands.

On all sides, as far as the eye could reach, nothing was to be seen but cuirasses, helmets, swords, lances and rows of bayonets.

"What a battle!" cried Buche, my comrade-at-arms. "Woe to the English!"

And I thought as he did. I believed that not a single Englishman would escape. But bad luck pursued us that day: though, had it not been for the Prussians, I think we should have exterminated them all.

Down into the little valley we poured, right into the face of the English fire, and shouting all the time "Give them the bayonet!"

The batteries hurled their grape-shot point blank upon us. It was then, for the first time, I saw the English close at hand. They had fair skins and were clean shaven like respectable citizens. They can fight well, too—but we are as good as they. Every shot of the English told; and this forced us to break our ranks, for men are not mere paliades.

And almost at the same moment we saw a mass of red dragoons, on gray horses, sweeping along like the wing and sabring our stragglers without mercy. It was one of the most terrible moments of my life as we were driven back.

What a fearful thing is a battle!

Then out came Marshal Ney waving his sword in the air. Older, thinner and more bony than when I saw him last but still the same brave soldier with the clear eyes that seemed to take us all in.

"Forward," he cried, "I shall lead you myself!" And we rushed ahead, one after the other like a pack of wolves, until we gained the principal outpost of the British.

But suddenly the rumor spread that the Prussians were coming. I felt myself grow pale.

At that moment cries of "Vive l'Emperur!" rose from thousands of throats behind us, and looking back I saw all our cavalry of the right wing advancing to attack the solid squares of the English. It was an awesome sight. With waving sabres they rushed pell-mell again and again upon the red-coats. Twenty such charges they made, until the horses of our cuirassiers, exhausted, could no longer even walk—and there still firmly stood the great red lines, steadfast as walls!

Now all that remained for attack was the Old Guard—those wonderful veterans who had fought in Grecian, in Egypt, in Spain and in Russia, of whom the Emperor took special care and who no longer knew parents or relations. They all knew the Emperor who was their god. When it was said in the ranks "The Guard is going to charge," it was the same as saying, "The battle is won!"

And Ney commanded them!

Upon the guard fell the concentrated hail of bullets. In twenty minutes every officer had been dismounted and the Guard reduced from three thousand men to twelve hundred, slowly gave way.

Now the entire English army fell upon us. And as the remnant of the Old Guard fell backward across the field fled hussars, cuirassiers, artillery and infantry like an army of savages.

What can I tell you more? It was utter rout. And in the valley old Blucher, with forty thousand Prussians, was looming up.

The end had to come—and I wept like a child.

Back we scurried, borne down with fatigue, hunger and despair.

"Keep on," cried Buche, "the Prussians take no prisoners. Look! they are cutting down everyone."

So back, back, even to Paris we fled, and there we learned that hostilities were to be suspended, that the Emperor had gone, and that the King was returning to the throne. Desertsions began. Fifteen of us from Lorraine left together.

I hurried on from village to village and at last reached Pfalzbourg—and my home.

Up the stairs I sprang; Catherine was in my arms. I fell to sobbing so violently that one would have thought misfortune had come upon me.

The first words of Catherine were, "Joseph, I knew that you would come back. I had put my trust in God."

Thus happiness finally reached us.

Now I have lived to see the return of the day of liberty and to see the nation increase in wealth, in education and in happiness. People begin to understand their rights. They know that war only brings increase of taxation and suffering; and when the people, as masters, shall say

"Instead of sending our sons to perish by thousands beneath the sword and the cannon we will have them taught and made men!" who will dare gainsay them?

In this hope I bid you farewell, my friends, and embrace you with all my heart.

DEMPSEY SIGNS TO FIGHT BECKETT ON ST. PATRICKS DAY

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 5.—New Orleans on next St. Patrick's day is to have its first world's championship heavyweight fight since September 7, 1892, when John L. Sullivan lost the title to James J. Corbett. Of Dominic Tortorich, the promoter, is able to secure the consent of Joe Beckett, English champion, to meet Jack Dempsey, world's champion, here.

Dempsey's signature was placed on a contract produced by the promoter at Mobile, yesterday, and he will receive $125,000 as his end of the purse if the match goes through. Twenty rounds are specified as the length of the fight.

Tortorich said he would have a representative in England in December when Peckett meets Georges Carpenter, the French champion, and that if Carpenter should win, the Frenchman would be offered the chance at the heavyweight title.

The agreement between Dempsey and the promoter is conditional on Beckett's success against Carpenter.

In the meantime Dempsey has been offered $75,000 by a local promoter to meet Bill Brennan here prior to the proposed bout with Beckett.

SPIKE THE FLU'S GUNS NOW IS THE BEST OF ADVICE

Don't Wait Till Winter Comes With a Return of the Epidemic.

Where did influenza come from? It is an old or a new foe to man? Is it breathed in from the air or drawn from human victims?

Who can answer these and other questions suggested by an epidemic that gripped multitudes of Americans last winter at the cost of tens of thousands of lives? Wiseacres try to answer them and see how they differ—especially the doctors.

But with another winter around the corner the vital question's this: Has my system power to ward off the "flu" if it comes? On the answer may hang countless human lives.

Ever since this epidemic began last winter these columns have carried statements signed by well-known flu-victims whose systems were rebuilt after weeks and months of suffering by the use of Nerv-Worth. Influenza is a vicious wrecker of the nerves, the stomach, the bowels, the liver and other vital parts of the system. Upon these centered, influenza's worst after-effects. Nerv-Worth drives out these after-effects by rebuilding the organs in which they chiefly have their seat.

And what it did last winter and afterwards in rebuilding disabled organs it can and will do now to fortify them against influenza's attacks. Nerv-Worth druggists and Nerv-Worth salesmen, after freely comparing notes, declare that the fewest number of their customers who took Nerv-Worth regularly last winter and spring were visited by the disease.

Begin to take Nerv-Worth now. Nip the very firstlings of influenza in the bud. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. Fortify your system by taking Nerv-Worth right along for weeks. Your forethought will not be lost even if the epidemic does not return, for Nerv-Worth steadies and strengthens the nerves, adds flesh, aids digestion, whets the appetite, rouses the liver, regulates the bowels, restores restful sleep, banishes sick and nervous headache and other aches and pains, builds up run-down systems; and this is a great work to do for ailing humans, influenza or no influenza.

Butler's Drug Store, Main and Kirby; The Central, Main and High; Everybody's, Main and Vine; Hunter's, 49 Public Square, sell Nerv-Worth in Lima.

Frank Huntingell sell Nerv-Worth at Beaverdam; Central Drug Store, Wapakoneta; J. H. Wahrhoff, Delphos; Pfleif's Drug Store, Sidney; Gassons, Kenton; Powell, Bellfontaine.

With The Boxers

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Champion Benny Leonard has been booked for four fights. On November 10 he clashes with Soldier Bartfield at the Arena A. C. Jersey City; November 17 he goes against Jimmy Duffy, of Lockport, N. Y. for 15 rounds at Tulsa, Okla. November 24 he will swap punches with Johnny Griffiths Akron welterweight, and on Thanksgiving Day (afternoon) he meets some good welterweight at the Olympia A. A. of Philadelphia.

Because Pal Moore demanded a guarantee of $3,000, after agreeing to split 50-50 of the money left after Champion Pete Herman was to receive $10,500 for boxing him, Dominic Tortorich, matchmaker of the Louisiana Auditorium of New Orleans, has called off the contest, which has booked for December 15.

Mike O'Dowd, the middle-weight champion, and Billy Kramer, of Milwaukee, will meet in an eight-round contest at the Lyceum A. C. Pater-son, N. J., November 6.

Johnny Murray, the local feather-weight, will meet Mike Dundee, the featherweight of Rock Island, in a ten-round bout at the National Sporting Club of Detroit November 10.

Eddie Fitzsimmons, of this city, and Young Fanning, of Detroit, have been matched by the Wolverine, A. C. Detroit, to meet in the semi-final of ten rounds to the main go between Irish Patsy Cline and Ritchie Mitchell, of Milwaukee, which will be fought at that club on the night of November 19.

Al Thompson, the Cincinnati lightweight, who defeated Allentown Dundee, Saturday night at Philadelphia, is in town looking for bouts.

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 4.—Benny Leonard will finish his training in this city for his fifteen-round contest with Jimmy Duffy, of Lockport, N. Y. The men will meet at 140 pounds and will box to a decision.

Billy McCarney was at the ring-side in Akron on Tuesday night when Bob Martin stopped Joe Bond. McCarney says that while Martin needs schooling he has the makings of a wonderful fighter.

Andy Schmader is a mighty likely heavyweight. The big blonde from Omaha, has a wallop and is a pretty good boxer. He will be sent up against K. O. Bill Brennan at the Olympia, on November 17, this looks like bad judgment, for Schmader doesn't rank with the Chicago Celt yet.

NEVER MISSES IT

Admiral Sims was talking at a wedding breakfast about matrimony. "It's a great life if you don't weaken," he said. "What I mean is that in matrimony you get to submit to a considerable curtailment of your freedom and independence."

"A bachelor said to a married man the other morning: 'Hello, Bill! I saw you rushing from the club last night after the 2 a. m. train. Did you catch it?'"

"I sure did," said Benedict Bill. "The darn thing pulled out of the station just fifteen seconds before I arrived."

"But, man, you said you caught it."

Benedict Bill heaved a deep sigh. "The married man who misses the last train always catches it," he said. "—Exchange."

OHIO NORTHERN ELEVEN STRONG

Ada Squad Shows Ability Against Wooster Team. Bolen Shifts Line Up.

ADA, Nov. 5.—Although Ohio Northern university's football team has not won a conference game this season the battle with Wooster last Saturday showed Coach Bolen's warriors had plenty of fight and that they were able to play to a standstill the heaviest and most experienced teams in the conference.

Wooster won the mud fray, 13 to 0. Their showing in the Presbyterian tray has given the local players confidence and the fight spirit. This will be needed this week when Bolen sends his men against Miami at Oxford.

In the battle with Wooster, Northern's line-up showed many changes. Main was filling Spellman's place at left end, as the latter is on the sick list; Hilton was shifted from tackle to center, succeeding Sterlings, who has been out since the Akron game. End Florida was at the tackle position and Seigel, regular tackle, was in the back field. Should Spellman and Sterling report this week the team will be considerably strengthened.

The muddy field last Friday prevented Northern's fast backfield from making any large gains but these men were strong on the defense. Roy Dague and B. S. Miller at halfs prevented the Boles men from making large runs after they had broken through the line defense. This is Dague's and Miller's first year in varsity togs and these men have proven to be a tower of strength for Northern.

Bernard Kates, quarterback, plotted the locals with the usual ease and calmness going through the entire fray without a fumble. This is Kate's first season, but he is drawing the attention of Ohio conference critics. The youngster is speedy in carrying the ball and has saved many touchdowns when opposing players had succeeded in getting down his way.

In preparing for the Miami game, Coach Bolen is putting in a full week. For the first time this season he put the varsity through scrum make this evening.

Cal Mays

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Directors of the American league today were asked to attend a special meeting here Wednesday morning to consider the protest of the Detroit club against the games which Carl Mays pitched for New York.

New York finished third in the American pennant race, a half game ahead of Detroit, earning a share of the world series receipts.

A request by Yankee players that the board ask the national commission to pay them their portion of the money also will be taken up.

A TIP TO CANDIDATES

An Irish political candidate, who felt sure that a certain elector was against him, was surprised to have that elector call and announce that he would support him to the limit.

"Whin the other day ye called at my place and stood by the pigsty and talked for half an hour, ye didn't budge me an inch," said his visitor. "But after ye'd gone away, I got to thinkin' how ye reached yer hand over the rail and scratched the pig's back till he lay down wid the pleasure of it. I made up my mind that whin a man was so sociable as that wid a poor fellow crathure, I wasn't the bhooy to vôte ag'in him."—Boston Transcript.

NAME "BAYER" ON GENUINE ASPIRIN

Get relief without fear as told in "Bayer Package"

 John Hancock

The "Bayer Cross" is the signature of the true "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin." The name "Bayer" is only on genuine Aspirin prescribed by physicians for over eighteen years. In every handy "Bayer" package are proper directions for Colds, Headache, Toothache, Earache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Lumbargia, Sciatica, Neuralgia and for Pain generally.

The boxes of 12 tablets, cost only a few cents. Druggists also sell larger "Bayer" packages. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monacetylcetacideester of Salicylicacid.

BURB'S BINGLES

THE other day.

FRIEND wife told me

I was the homeliest man

IN THE world and I told

HER I was going

OUT and if I saw a

MAN uglier than I

AM I would kill

HIM and I started

DOWN the street and

I MET a man who had an

INGROWN face and I

PULLED my

REVOLVER and told him

WHAT my wife had

SAID and all about my

RESOLUTION, and he said: "If

I AM any uglier than you I WANT someone to kill me."

AND I lost my nerve

AND went home.

BURB thanks you

HEAT EASES PAIN

It reduces inflammation and scatters congestion.

There is more concentrated, non-blistering heat in a box of Begy's Mustarine than in any box the same size anywhere.

That's why some people call it the triple extract of heat. But it can not blister.

is the world's quickest pain killer, and contains real yellow mustard. Use it to end Chest Colds, Sore Throat and pleurisy—overnight.

Rub it on when you want Neuralgia, Neuralitis and Lumbago to promptly disappear.

Use it for sprains, Strains, Swellings, Soreness, Stiff Joints and Neck.

Always in the yellow box. Money back if not as advertised—30 and 60 cents.

PROFIT TAKING IS A STOCK FEATURE

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Speculative interests registered their approval of a general election by a violent bidding up of prices at the opening of today's stock market. Steels and equipments were once more the outstanding features, but oils, motors and various metal issues were carried along on the initial rise of 1 to 4 points. Leaders of the movement included Crucible, Bethlehem, Republic, United States Steels, American Can, Texaco, Sinclair, Mexican Petroleum, G. M. Motors, United States Rubber, American Woolen and International Paper. Motor and shipping also were firm to strong.

The rise involved considerable realising for profits, causing temporary reactions of up to 6 points. Investors seemed to let the irregular rally of the second hour.

Rails and metals also shared liberally in the recovery, but General Motors again assumed leadership on its rebound of 8½ points to the new high of 46½.

Encouraging economic and industrial developments over the holiday were reflected by a strong money conditions in the latter half of today's stock market session. Sales approached 1,600,000 shares. The closing was very heavy.

LAD IS KILLED BY CONTACT WITH A LIVE ELECTRIC WIRE

Scott Wooly Meets Death
While Assisting Father
at Harrod.

While assisting his father to put up electric wiring, Monday afternoon, Scott Wooly, 17 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Wooly, well known Harrod residents was instantly killed by electrocution when he became entangled in a crossrent of live wires on a telegraph pole. A 3700 voltage passed through the unfortunate boy's body, which was hurled to the ground. His father who was higher up on the pole witnessed the accident and is almost frantic with grief.

Several physicians were immediately called and worked for more than an hour over the boy, but death had been instantaneous, and there was no hope of reviving him. The accident occurred almost in front of the residence of Postmaster Kitz by White.

The boy was very popular among the younger people and was a freshman in high school. His family who are prominent in that vicinity have the sympathy of the entire countryside in their sorrow. Besides the parents, one sister and a brother are left.

Must "Cough Up" Revenue Stamps For Cough Drops

Considerable trouble has arisen from the fact that dealers in cough drops are failing to place revenue stamps on the commodity, according to a report from the office of internal revenues.

The law pertaining to the sale of commodities which must bear stamps, shows that any commodity for which medicinal qualities are claimed, must bear a one cent revenue stamp for a quantity ranging in price from two cents to 25 cents, and a two cent stamp for a package selling at from 26 cents to 50 cents.

Will Nuxated Iron Help Men Of Today Gain Strength And Endurance Like Athletes of Old?

Physician Says "Yes"---Cites Case of

Jack Dempsey, Heavyweight Champion of the World SUPERMAN OF THE AGE

Who Used Nuxated Iron as a Part of the Training Which Gave Him Such Marvelous Physical Development that He Was Able to Whip The Mighty Jess Willard

To every man who lacks physical strength and energy there comes a longing at times to possess the power and endurance of an athlete, yet they go on struggling through life, toiling and running down, when in reality their trouble may be nothing more than lack of sufficient iron in the blood.

How they not kept their blood rich in iron, the benefits of old might never have been achieved, but times are different now. James Francis Sullivan, former physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, who has treated thousands of men who are fagged out by work, work and other strains might readily build up their strength, energy and endurance by increasing the supply of iron in their blood.

As an example of the superb physical condition of the athlete of today, who follows proper methods of health and who keeps his blood filled with strength-giving iron, Dr. Sullivan cites the case of Jack Dempsey, who uses Nuxated Iron as a part of his training while making such marvelous development that he is now recognized as the Superman of the Age and perhaps the superior of any famous athlete of ancient or modern times. The use of Nuxated Iron, Dempsey says: "Nuxated Iron put added power behind my punch and helped me to accomplish what I did at Toledo. I know the rest in my own case, where the question of age is not so important, I feel that I am in a position to strongly recommend Nuxated Iron to every man and woman who wants to build greater strength, energy and power."

In commenting on the foregoing statement made by Dempsey, Dr. Sullivan says: "I should only like to add that if a man as physically fit as Dempsey should consider it advisable to take Nuxated Iron how much more important is it for the average man of today to take it. I can only say, the men of today who want to be strong, sturdy and successful must either live more as did the athletes of old or else supply the system with the proper amount of Nuxated Iron." Dempsey says: "I have used Nuxated Iron in my practice and I see for yourself how much you have gained. Many an athlete or prize fighter

EXPERT SURGEON TALKS TO DOCTORS

An interesting talk on "The Control of Cancer" was the main topic at the regular meeting of the Allen County Medical Society held last night at Memorial hall. There was a very good attendance of local physicians and several out-of-town doctors were also present for the lecture. Dr. Charles Moots, of Toledo, a cancer specialist, and the speaker sent out by the committee on Control of Cancer, O. S. M. A. addressed the meeting, and illustrated his talk with lantern slides showing the various stages of this dread disease.

He cited a number of instances where cancer has gained a strong hold in this country, and statistics show that during the period America was in war 80,000 men lost their lives, while 180,000 persons died from the effects of cancer. If only people would realize the seriousness of this disease, and consult a physician when the first symptoms appear, the number of fatalities would be greatly lessened.

The next regular meeting of the association will be held Nov. 15 at the Lima state hospital, when Doctors Clark and Verbaa will hold a medical clinic.

World League To Hold First Meet in Paris

MEET IN PARIS

PARIS, Nov. 5.—The first meeting of the council of the League of Nations will be held in Paris, the supreme court decided today. It did not however, fix a date for a gathering. It was agreed that the council of the world body should consider at this meeting only matters which must be passed upon immediately after the formal ratification of the German peace treaty.

The supreme court today discussed the supreme court's own uncompleted work, preparing to decide upon exactly what questions must be passed upon before the peace conference ends.

County Bond Issues

Apparently have passed, but country precincts are slow in reporting Good roads bond issue, the same.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 5.—The Secretary of State based his estimate of the wet-dry vote upon practically complete returns from 36 out of the 88 counties. Though the returns so far received show substantial wet majorities on their face, the chief statistician pointed out that the returns were practically all from the larger cities and wet centers.

The tabulation included complete returns from Cleveland and Cuyahoga county, Cincinnati and Hamilton county, Columbus and Franklin county and almost complete returns from a number of other large cities and counties.

Very few rural precincts were included in the returns tabulated, and when all the rural precincts are in, he said the apparent wet majorities would be turned into substantial dry majorities. He pointed out that big dry gains are noted in the rural returns so far received, and that press reports show large dry gains in other districts.

Votes tabulated on the classification taxation proposal from the same precincts are said to indicate defeat of the proposal by more than 100,000 majority and officials at the secretary of state's office say it may reach 150,000 or even more.

The vote in the 36 counties tabulated was: Legalizing sale of 24¢ per cent alcohol liquors, yes 267,994; no, 215,311.

Repealing state-wide prohibition, yes 255,164; no, 214,073.

Approving ratification of the federal prohibition amendment, yes, 212,711; no, 273,595.

Approving Crabbé prohibition enforcement measure, yes, 202,441; no, 275,410.

The wet appeared to have made their best showing on the Crabbé of this city, has the distinction of being the only town in Ohio to elect a socialist mayor at Tuesday's election.

J. S. Davis, who had held the office twice before, was elected by a majority of 71,000 against the 20. A combination with a defeated republican candidate for mayorality nomination put Davis across.

DEISEL-WEMMER WORKERS HAVE A BIG CELEBRATION

Findlay Courier—One of the largest and most elegant Hallowe'en parties ever held in Hancock county was given by the employees of the Deisel-Wemmer Co., Friday evening at the factory on Broadway. Nearly six hundred people were present.

The party was held in the dining and shipping room of the factory. The rooms were decorated overhead with orange and black streamers. American flags, corn fodder and pumpkin faces adorned the walls. A beautiful Jack-O-lantern made from a basket designed and decorated by a foreman was hung in the center of the stripping room, giving a soft reddish glow to the large room.

The rooms thus decorated were the most beautiful ever seen in the city of Findlay. One hundred and thirty masked couples participated in the grand march at ten o'clock. Mrs. Rose Bush and Mrs. Kocher were selected as the most comically dressed.

The former was dressed as a man and received fifty San Felicis cigars, the latter received a silver soup ladle. A large suspended from a tripod, stood in front of the fortune telling booth, where many people enjoyed having their fortunes told by Mrs. Owers an expert at that art. The fortune teller was masked as a witch. Round and square dances were enjoyed. Many couples enjoyed trying to walk on a plank twelve inches wide and twelve feet long.

Only 20¢, 25¢, 30¢ were successful. Rattling of Kewpie dolls was another feature of enjoyment for the fairmakers. Gripe, rich, longhorns and popcorn were served as refreshments. Music was furnished by Mrs. H. Powell, H. Hoffman and Albert Ross.

NO CHANGES IN COAL PRICES AS FIXED BY U. S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—There will be no change in present maximum coal prices fixed by the government, Dr. Garfield, fuel administrator, today told a delegation of operators. If the strike lasts readjustment of price may be necessary, he said. "That there is nothing to talk about now." The operators had complained that the maximum limits were pinching them.
